DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

2. Claims 1-3, 8-9, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Takahiro, Japanese Patent No. JP02001053397A, hereafter Takahiro.

Regarding claim 1, Takahiro discloses a wiring board comprising:

a base board (insulating board);

a first hole, formed through the base board, including an insulating portion filled with an insulator (through hole 24 with insulating portion 26a, see figure 1 and 2a-d);
and a pair of second holes formed within the first hole through the insulating portion (via through hole 27-28, see figure 1 and 2a-d).

Regarding claim 2, Takahiro further discloses a conducting portion for transmitting a differential signal in each of the second holes, see figure 2b.

Regarding claim 3, Takahiro further discloses the pair of second holes located symmetrically each other with respect to a center axis of the first hole for forming coaxial structures, see figure 2a-b.

Regarding claim 8 and 20, Takahiro further discloses two conductor layers coated with the conducting material (conductor layer on top and bottom of the board, see figure 4b, a copy with red mark is attached for more clarifications).

Regarding claim 9 and 19, Takahiro further discloses the first hole through two conductor layers, see figure 4b), wherein the pair of the second holes formed by forming insulating layers on an upper surface and a lower surface of the two conductor layers, forming a plurality of wiring patterns on an upper surface and a lower surface of the insulating layer, and forming holes through at least four layers of the two conductor layers and two insulating layer (see figure 4a-d, a copy with red mark is attached for more clarifications).

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 4, 14 and 15 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 2827

4. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The shortest length of the insulator filled between the pair of the two holes located within a bigger hole, filled with insulator, shorter than a shortest length of the insulator filled between the bigger hole and one of the pair of the holes in a printed circuit board as claimed has not been disclosed by prior art alone or in combination.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed October 31, 2002 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's argument:

(I) The present invention is directed to a through hole for a multi layer structure, including a strip line structure: claims 1-3, does not claim multiplayer layer structure. Further, with regards to claims 8, 9, 19 and 20, figures 4a-4d, with red mark, clearly disclose more conductive and insulating layers.

(II) Regarding claim 19, the applicant is claiming how the second holes are formed, but does not disclose any specific value or structural difference or any specific dimensional relation with the main hole / first hole, in which the two holes are made. Hence not considered as a limiting factor for the patentability.

(III) The limitation, in claims 4, 14 and 15, claiming "a shortest length of the insulator filled between the pair of the second holes is shorter than a shortest length of the insulator filled between the first hole and one of the second holes", is persuasive and the claims, if written in independent form will be allowed as shown as the allowable subject matter.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Yoshifumi et al., discloses a multiplayer wiring board with differential transmission system with decreased external noise.
